Over One Hundred Enjoy Banquet Given By Pupils Of Youth Training School

Pupils Had Charge Of Program And They Made A Mighty Good Job At It—Four Students Replied To The "Toast" To "The Youth Of Canada," Proposed By The District Agriculturist, W. S. Scarth—Wesley Smith Spoke On Problems Of Rural Youth—Benny Patterson Occupied The Chair—Mayor Tooley Spoke For Local Committee.

There were over one hundred covers at the banquet given by the students of the Youth Training School, the staff and the local committee members in making the school possible, in the basement of St. Paul's United Church on Friday night.

The room was tastefully decorated by the students and the banquet was also prepared and served by them. It was a case where youth had taken over and they made a mighty good job of it.

Grace was said by Rev. A. W. Cumming.

Following the toast "To the King," Chairman Benny Patterson of Grande Prairie, on behalf of the students, welcomed the guests and spoke briefly to the benefits derived from the course made so easy to obtain by

Settlers Of Block Dissatisfied With Pre-Eemption Act

Want To Revert To The Old Dominion Homestead Act—Mr. Jamieson, Well-Known Farmer Of Peace Coups, Who Was A Week-End Visitor To Grande Prairie, Believes Government Should Give Assistance To Settlers By Helping To Buy Land-Clearing Machinery.

Tom Jamieson of Peace Coups, who spent the week-end at Grande Prairie, in conversation with The Tribune reporter had something to say on the proposed pre-emption regulation.

"In my opinion," he said, "we would be well advised to revert to the old Dominion Homestead Act, for the conditions it provides are easier for the bona-fide settler to prove up and acquire title to his land and self-supporting settler."

Continuing, Mr. Jamieson, who has been in the Block for 30 years, said that "the new regulations are not good enough for the settlers. The pre-emption is required to do $1,000 improvements in order to acquire title. This is a great handicap. Besides, the time limit is ten months, instead of six under the old homestead regulations."

Mr. Jamieson then went on to say that the Farmers' Institutes of the Peace River Block have been carrying on a campaign for the same ease to the settlers as the old Dominion regulations which were in force in the Block, and which gave the natural resources to the province.

The visitor stated that he took this matter up with the advisory board of the government, which met last fall. "Our contention," added Mr. Jamieson, "was strongly supported by the board and passed on" (Continued on Page Seven)

Interesting Talks Given Teachers At Meeting

Mr. Walker Reports Grande Prairie School Fair Second Largest In Alberta—Four More Schools Have Been Added.

The regular meeting of the Grande Prairie Teachers' Association was held Monday evening.

After the usual call the meeting was addressed by Mr. Walker and Mr. Scarth about School Fair work.

Mr. Walker reported that the Grande Prairie School Fair is the second largest in Alberta. This year four more schools have been added to the central Peace Mile, Millarson, Twilight and Percy.

Those planning to enter should begin work now.

Education should be the work of the child, the teacher and parent giving direction only. If more than direction is given to the child it discourages others who have exhausted their own work. This was the reason why some schools have withdrawn from the School Fair circuit.

The other two committees requested teachers to bring in all non-perishable exhibits at the end of the school year.

Mr. Scarth drew attention to some changes in the regulations. The agriculture section was closed to all pupils above Grade IV. Seats are now distributed only to children in Grade IV and up.

Teachers should try to arouse as much interest in the fair as possible. In many cases the judges had found it difficult to make awards.

Mr. Melanes presented the results of all the exhibits which had been distributed in this area and then made a comparison with the Edmonton schools.

The school's counsellor, Miss Dobson, then gave her report of the meeting of the Central Executive.

A committee was nominated to make arrangements for Educational Week.

Next meeting of the Grande Prairie Teachers' Association will be held Saturday, March 4, in the Grande Prairie High School, commencing at 2:30 p.m.

MAYOR TOOLEY GIVES REASON FOR SEEKING RE-ELECTION

In accepting nomination again for the Fourth Term as Mayor, I wish to make the following observations to the Electors—

My thirteen years of continuous service on Council and the past six years as Mayor have seen the constant world for many of the benefits and developments that took place during this period, chief of which was the commencement of the Sewer and Water System, serving to modernize our town and hospital.

There was a time when the town history occurred since the commencement of my First Term, but in spite of this the financial position improved and considerable progress was made. A new problem arose at this time, too, in connection with selling off the water system, and I believe that the opinion that we should be more liberal in our attitude towards relief during the winter months, and that the policy of working out same in the summer, when more work is available, was followed. I would here point out that orders are given on our local merchants in the connection that no cash is given out to the individual.

The successful negotiations which I carried on with the Dominion Government for the $60,000 water and sewer project, spread over a period of twenty years at 2% instead of 5 1/2%, as the first debenture called for, means a saving of $20,000 to the ratepayers. I am in favor of obtaining an additional loan of $60,000 to pay money at a time when extra money is available. This may be obtained at the rate of interest. This will also serve as a Works Program to use up unemployment. This is the chief reason for asking your support for me in this term, which will start as soon as completed.

Now that Bonspiel has been built, I may say, I am of the opinion that the town should support the Curling Club in their endeavors for the erection of a new Curling Rink, or as an alternative that the present Skating and Curling Ring might be turned over to them on a lease basis.

My past record in the encouragement of all forms of Winter and Summer Sports is well known, and I am ready to cooperate with any organization in this advancement.

In conclusion, as I have done the past, so will I continue in the future, to work for the best interests of the town.

Thanking you for your support.

USED WRONG STRATEGY

Mike McGee, known far and wide as a mule and horse Skinner, occupying the upper bracket in horses and mulemen, had the misfortune to break his leg while working in a camp north of the Webster.

Discussing the incident, Mike, who likes all people of Irish blood, has a sense of humor. He told the writer that he cracked his ribs while running down his dividend and fell over a fallen tree. "When I got up, I saw a hole late in the ground and went with grime to the hole. When they found it, they were on their way, Carl softly whistling an accompaniment.

Taking a truckload of wheat to market at another time, the lights of an approaching car caused him and his team to turn the direction of the machine upside down. Can you imagine a person, if not killed or hurt, crawling out of such a crash someone; without even complaining, and absolutely free of all expedites? That was what Carl did.

John never married. Their code of ethics is of a high order. Never did either of them in a deal take advantage of another. Ignorant as most instances of persons never heard them a grain of salt at a figure which they knew was, say, five cents under the real value. The price of the feed which he wouldn't accept his offer, but pay the advanced price.

Carl made noticeably thin when he spoke. He was very temperate, I never saw him out of humor. With every difficulty he smiles and starts humming or whistling to himself.

On one occasion, John day his newly purchased 1928 auto sputtered and stopped. Though dressed in his best, he was without benefit of chauffeur. Now who couldn't that spirit prevail with the Kerr-Orr Cup games? Why couldn't lunch be provided the same as those are the league games?

It would help out the invading team considerably. And it was one of the Red Devil players who was with him. John was invited to have a meal at the league lunches at the league meeting.

A BELIEVER IN SPORTS-MANSHIP.

Read in your last paper where a carload of bulls were shipped in from outside on the bull exchange policy. The bulls were to be sent to market. The bulls outside should be shipped in when purebred bulls from here have to be taken outside by the prospectus counts, viscounts and lords, while the overwhelming majority of the people are tenants and leaseholders, and the majority who vote them ever to often."

Paradoxical as this may be however, it is not impossible. There were early taught industry and honor. There can be no doubt that during their formative period they were instilled with the desire to do something to flee but to grapple and overcome—learned that courageous combat was an elixir that transmutes the fear of achievement.

And who is he, younger, than is authoritatively able to say that of us? Who is he, older, than is qualified to speak on social questions?

And who is he, younger, than is authoritatively able to say that of us? Who is he, older, than is qualified to speak on social questions?

It is easy to see that they when children were never allowed to shirk and due respect was demanded from them in all their associations with others.

If we could turn back the clock of time and meet the parents of John, we would be better informed. It would be profitable to know something of their ideas and philosophy of life. But since we can't meet them, we can only guess at what their thoughts were in a faithful portrayal of them.

What sort of portrait of us will live on for our children exhibit in years to come?

SUCH ARE THE TIMES WE ARE IN

Dear Editor:

It does not seem a little strange that W. D. Albright, at his age, with married children, and none of his experience, should be qualified to speak on social questions?

LETTERS TO A SON AT COLLEGE

Dear Son at School:

I can find in the magazine containing a story I have in mind, and if I am not quite accurate in detail, the point is well made.

A new locomotive was making its way across the middle of the night and at one end of the train was seen to be a German.

He liked its performance, but what awed him most was the greatest admiration for the sign of manhood on the running board in that bitter sub-zero cold dripping oil on a hot bearing in order that the engine might move.

Wiring ahead, he ascertained it was and promised himself a good turnout for that chap if opportunity afforded.

Twenty years slipped by and this same railroad was in the market for a number of locomotives.

The hero of this story, now promoted to the head, sought the order. Competition was keen and his hopes were dim. He was told he must win his own lead, he was sure they all had, in one way and another, an advantage over him.

Wiring ahead, he ascertained the railway reminded him of his incident at twenty years ago and kept his word by giving him the order.

The young man did not know at the time, that when he scoured the hockey game and turned his back on the theatre at the call of duty, and rode home through the blackness of the night exposing himself to the mile-a-minute gait of a young girl to bring her successfully home, the hero of the day had still for himself by which a few years later he would secure an order of such magnitude.

Amusement is clean and pure, have their place—never as the main objective in life, but as an auxiliary to the pursuit to perform his duty more perfectly.

Again, the way you perform your duty now will have to be faced by you in the future, and the time it has upon your success or failure.

Here is what Oscar Ameringer, a famous American writer and thinker, said about the labor elements, which call them reformists:

"The Great Madness"

In searching for the causes of the World War it is well to disregard the war itself, and to look at the books issued by the governments partaking in the great slaughter.

"They only prove that the art of war has made considerable progress since the days of Anaxim and Anaximenes."

"Another myth to be eliminated is the myth of the German people. In spite of all that has been said about the depravity of the German people, the fact remains that they are neither bad nor good, but somewhere in between."

"As a matter of fact the people of Germany, England, France and Belgium are to the same extent, and while it is true some are good and others bad, it would be the highest folly to consider the whole family divided into arbitrary boundary lines composed of devils on the one side and angels on the other."

"Safe for Democracy"

"Another illusion to be brushed aside is the idea that the world is to make the world safe for democracy."

"Nothing of the kind. The Czar of Russia and the Mikado did not go to war with each other to make the world safe for democracy."

Ice Carnival Is District Affair Say Sponsors

The management of the Sexsmith Rink, who are sponsoring the Winter Ice Carnival, have put their stamp of approval on the public that this is distinctly a district affair, and the fact that it is being held in Sexsmith is only incidental, as it is the most central point.

The prize list will be somewhere in the vicinity of $1,000, and there will be 50 events, so that you will all have a chance to get in the money—all for the small sum of two-bits.

There will be a prize for the largest rural family attending, and another for the largest family from any part of the district. Callander, Ontario, is having the first annual Winter Carnival this year, and any family producing quintuplets between this date and February 25, will be awarded a prize of $5,000. The consolation is that the babies must be born within a radius of 50 miles from Sexsmith, and must also belong to the carnival.

There will be ten events for children in the afternoon, also a junior hockey game, which is now on display in the window of Gow & Hall.

Keep this date in mind, and if you are looking for anybody, this will be the place to find them on that date.

Before complete encirclement the Loyalist government and most of the Loyalist forces, including the city, retired northward, hotly pursued by Franco's victorious legions.
